Security Information and Event Management

Our market-leading SIEM service protects your organisation from modern security threats with real-time monitoring and remediation.

Designed by our experts to utilise analytics, continuous monitoring and auto-responses to map, reduce and eliminate security weaknesses in your IT ecosystem.

SIEM for your Microsoft ecosystem from £4.95 per machine per month

Security information and event management (SIEM) for Microsoft ecosystem offers next-generation security operations with cloud and AI monitored SIEM platform that is powered by Sentinel, Microsoft's own, enterprise-level security platform and which is fed real-time data from an organisation Microsoft ecosystem.

The solution is powered by Microsoft, created and supported by us and provides organisations with an enterprise-level solution that manages threat detection, investigation and response at a fraction of the cost of traditional SIEM solutions.

We use data in real-time to identify different types and classes of risk behaviour. That data is fed into a workflow for your organisation to assess your system's potential risk level.

We have formed a library of predefined and customisable rules and an adaptable security console to provide a real-time presentation of security incidents and events, to provide real-time visualisation of ongoing threat activity and weakness within your IT ecosystem.
